CONSERVATION & CARE

Conservation is an action anyone can take to help protect the earth's animals, plants and natural resources. Much of the world's wildlife and wild places are threatened or endangered. Conservation is something we must learn to practice if we want to maintain a diverse and living

Riverbanks Zoo and Garden is dedicated to protecting the earth's wildlife and wild places by increasing their awareness and appreciation, providing the highest standards of care for the animal and plant collections on-site and by conducting scientific research and activities that benefit both captive and wild populations. Riverbanks' staff is active in a variety of efforts supporting conservation and science, from leadership in the Association of Zoos & Aquariums (AZA) to promoting sustainable practices within the organization and coordinating local, regional and global conservation efforts. A special Conservation Support Fund was established in 1996 to provide financial support necessary accomplish the conservation efforts of Riverbanks' staff and other conservation biologists around the globe.

Since 1996, Riverbanks has invested more than a million dollars in conservation efforts in South Carolina and around the globe with nearly half of those investments taking place since 2015.

Originally stewarded by now retired Chief Life Sciences Officer Ed Diebold and later renamed in honor of Riverbanks' past President & CEO, the Satch Krantz Conservation Fund has grown to support more than 200 projects in over 36 countries in the last two decades. Today, it remains a resource for responding to environmental crises, like the devastating fires in the Pantanal, as well as supporting research into conservation issues, like the extent of illegal trade of wildlife occurring in the United States.

ULTIMATE KENYA WITH FRANS LANTING

A unique safari experience with one of the world's greatest wildlife photographers, Frans Lanting, and his partner, videographer and writer Christine Eckstrom, who have personally designed an itinerary that will immerse a small group in exclusive wildlife photography opportunities. Guests will be introduced to the life and times and remarkable work of some of Africa's most legendary wildlife pioneers, including Martin and Osa Johnson, an American couple who captured the public imagination in the 20s and 30s with their films and books of adventure in Kenya and other faraway lands. Guests will visit Dr. Iain Douglas-Hamilton, the legendary elephant researcher, at his camp in the breathtakingly beautiful setting of Samburu, and will track thinos and other rare wildlife on the stunning private reserve of Lewa Conservancy near Mount Kenya. They will experience the celebrated wildlife and scenery of the Serengsti-Mara plains from the private setting of an intimate camp on the edge of the spectacular Maasai Mara Reserve.

'Safe Travels': Global Protocols & Stamp for the New Normal

WTTC alongside our Members, governments, health experts and other industry associations are working together to achieve effective recovery protocols by developing meaningful action plans that optimise sector-wide recovery efforts.

Part of our protocols include providing the public & private sectors with the insights & toolkits for interaction & implementation to ensure that people are and feel safe however WTTC, our members and the sector can not guarantee 100% safety. It is paramount to have common rules. Ultimately, we envision a future of travel which is safe, secure, seamless and provides an authentic and meaningful experience to the traveller across the journey; one which supports the livelihoods of millions and contributes to sustainable economic growth.

The protocols align the private sector behind common standards to ensure the safety of its workforce and travellers as the sector shifts to a new normal.

Please note that while the protocols take into account current WHO and CDC guidelines, they are living documents which we will

Tommy Stringfellow, President and CEO

Tommy Stringfellow, President and CEO of the Riverbanks Zoo & Garden, spoke the above words as he talked about his safari in Kenya in 2019. He added, "It's hard to explain how you feel when you meet the very last two female northern white rhinos in the world other than how beautiful the mother and her calf are, yet how angry we were that it had gotten to this point. A memory and movement that I will cherish forever."

Upcoming Zoo Safaris

Kenya Safari – June 25 to July 7, 2022 Registration is open: - Space is Limited

His memories of this precious encounter led Tommy to choose Kenya as the first destination for the Riverbanks Zoo & Garden's travel program, a conservation travel partnership between the Zoo and Safari Professionals. And you can join Tommy when he returns to Kenya in 2022 to revisit the Ol Pejeta Conservancy, the home of these two magnificent rhinos – and over 140 black rhinos. You will also explore two of Kenya's most unique wildlife destinations: the Samburu National Game Reserve in northern Kenya and the Maasai Mara – the extension of the world-famous Serengeti that reaches into Kenya. And, as a bonus, there is an optional pre-safari visit to Amboseli National Park, which is renowned for its extraordinary elephant families.

OUR NEXT RIVERBANKS ZOO SAFARI

Only twelve travelers will have the opportunity to travel with Tommy as he returns to Kenya. If an African safari is on your bucket list, this may be the perfect opportunity to realize your dream of Africa. And of course, a portion of net proceeds goes to fund valuable Riverbanks Zoo conservation projects.

Join us on our next Kenya Safari, June 25 – July 7, 2022 (Optional Amboseli extension June 22 – June 25)
